

Our MFL Intent

Our Modern Foreign Languages curriculum is based on the National Curriculum and will provide children with a gateway to a variety of cultures. We aim to foster pupils' curiosity of different cultures and deepen their understanding of the world. The teaching should give pupils experience and opportunity in both written, reading and spoken language that can be applied to practical situations. The opportunities that languages can offer to pupils now and later in life need to be made explicit, including travelling and job prospects. Oral practice is integral to our curriculum design and each unit aims to foster pupils' confidence in using language.

Our MFL Implementation

We use Grammarsaurus to support with planning, resourcing, oral practice and correct pronunciation.

French is taught discreetly in Key Stage 2 for 30 minutes a week. Key Stage 1 will not be taught discreetly but instead will be woven into the current curriculum where applicable e.g. numbers during maths, colours during art etc.

Each unit includes written, spoken and reading objectives.

Each year group in KS2 will be taught up to 4 units a term and continuous revision of basic greetings will be covered in each term.

An opportunity for writing will be provided each term.

MFL will be promoted through displays, annual languages day, French Pupil of the Week, literature.

Christ Church linguists will ...

Know the importance of language in a diverse and cultured world.

Have a good understanding of the French culture and traditions.

Be able to read, write and hold a conversation in French.

Speak enthusiastically about the opportunities languages can open up for pupils.

Be eager to explore other languages post primary education.

understand and respond to familiar spoken words, phrases and sentences. They understand basic classroom instructions. Most learners should be able to hear and learn about the different sounds in French. In the speaking skill, most learners can communicate with simple questions and phrases using correct pronunciation. They can also enjoy and sing some French songs. In the reading skill, most learners can recognise and understand some familiar words and phrases in written form. They are generally confident in reading aloud, and in using reference materials. In the writing skill, most learners can write some familiar simple sentences and words using a model and write some familiar words from memory. In the intercultural skill, most learners can talk about some celebrations/traditions and compare aspects of everyday life at home and abroad. They can also identify similarities in traditional stories/songs.

By the end of year 4 pupils will...

listen to and identify words and short phrases. They can understand the main points from a short-spoken passage made up of familiar language (a text, a dialogue, a short rhyme or a song). Most learners can listen to a short text using familiar vocabulary and answer simple questions in English/French. Most learners are able to recognise questions (even when they are just formed by an inversion) and able to recognise that “ne...pas” implies a negative. They understand phrases used in daily classroom routine and more classroom instructions. They can hear more different sounds of the language and now work with phrases rather than single words. In the speaking skill, most learners can communicate by asking and answering a wider range of questions while using correct pronunciation. They can follow a short text while listening and reading, saying some of the text. Learners can ask and answer simple questions and take part in a dialogue. They can also talk about their interests and express their opinion. Most learners can use a wider range of familiar nouns to talk about themselves, their family, pets and hobbies. They can also sing some more French songs using the grammar skills they have learnt. In the reading skill, most learners can read and understand familiar written phrases. They can read a wider range of words, phrases and sentences aloud. Most learners can understand the questions and main point(s) from a short-written passage in clear printed script. They can begin to use a bilingual dictionary to check the meaning of new words. In the writing skill, most learners can write short sentences using word banks and writing frames for support. They can use expressions that they have already learnt. They begin to experiment with building short phrases from memory. In the intercultural skill, most learners can talk about some celebrations/traditions and compare aspects of everyday life at home and abroad. They can also identify similarities in traditional stories/songs. They can also locate France on a world map and name a few main cities.

understand the main points and some of the detail from a spoken passage made up of familiar language in simple sentences. They have the confidence to listen to longer texts that contain familiar language and pick out some key points. They can identify specific sounds in familiar and unfamiliar words. Most learners understand and follow a range of classroom instructions. In the speaking skill, most learners take part in a simple conversation using familiar structures and vocabulary and express their opinions. Most learners can make a short presentation using a model. Their pronunciation and intonation should be more accurate. Most learners will use simple conjunctions to build more complex sentences and present information to others. They can perform a role-play with confidence and with accuracy. In the reading skill, most learners can read and understand some of the main points from short texts in familiar context. They develop their reading skills by re-reading a range of short texts. In the writing skill, most learners write a few sentences using a model on a familiar topic, adapting language that they have already learnt. They understand how a simple sentence is written and begin to use pronouns and adjectives that change with gender. Children revisit and consolidate words and structures learnt previously, and build on this prior learning. They can use a dictionary to check the spelling of words. In the intercultural skill, most learners can talk about the country/countries where the language is spoken.

listen to longer texts and understand the main points and simple opinions in spoken passages made up of material from different topics, using present and conditional. They understand longer and more complex phrases or sentences. They follow a wide range of classroom instructions. They enjoy listening to and joining in with a wide range of songs, and develop their confidence, imagination and self-expression. In the speaking skill, most learners use spoken language to initiate and sustain simple conversations on familiar topics or tell stories from own experience. Most learners learn short text and dialogues by heart and perform them in front of an audience.

The Christ Church, Walshaw MFL Curriculum

They learn to initiate and sustain short conversations without help. In the reading skill, most learners read a variety of longer texts from different types. They read aloud with confidence and enjoyment, and also enjoy reading short texts independently. They read and understand the main points and some detail from a short-written passage. In the writing skill, most learners learn to write some simple sentences from memory and continue to develop their writing skills by constructing short texts using a model. They develop a short text using a model on all the previous topics they have studied. They can write letters to a French penpal using all they know and say a lot about themselves. They can use dictionaries to look up unknown words. In the intercultural skill, most learners can talk about the differences between France and their country.
